

Who do you rely upon for security expertise?

Huffmaster goes above and beyond consulting as a full-service security provider.

Security is more than locks, alarms and guards.

An effective security program takes into consideration numerous internal and external factors which could compromise the integrity of your business. At Huffmaster, our experts will meet with you and systematically review your security measures on-site to ensure you have implemented procedures to keep you, your business and employees safe.

Huffmaster will customize security recommendations to meet your specific issues. We provide consultation and analysis through security vulnerability assessments, security awareness training, vendor evaluation, security system implementation, project-based support and also ensure you comply with the latest government chemical standards, if applicable. Not only do we provide the consulting services to you, but we respond and assist you as a nationally recognized full-service security provider.

That's Business Secured at a Higher Level. That's Huffmaster.

Consultation Services

With more than 45 years of experience in the security industry, Huffmaster is recognized for its professionalism, consistency and expertise in providing security solutions for our customers.

While Huffmaster offers numerous services on a consulting basis, we also serve as your one-stop solution to keeping your business secure. We can supply the necessary security resources to keep costs within budget and manageable without sacrificing the integrity you require.

Security Vulnerability Assessments: Our consultants conduct in-depth security surveys to identify vulnerabilities and provide recommendations to reduce or eliminate potential risks.

Security Awareness Training: We train your company's employees on the importance of security procedures and how they could impact them personally.

Vendor Evaluation: Huffmaster offers a third-party evaluation of your current security provider to assess their performance. As needed, we can assist in locating/selecting a new security company and contract negotiation for services.

Security Systems: Our experts can design a comprehensive security system to integrate technology, security personnel and procedures to provide a customized level of security for your facility or facilities.

Project-Based Support: We can provide security solutions for your new building construction or expansion or during the installation of security systems, card access or other technology.

Security Director: This service allows you to have on-site security without the need of hiring full-time personnel. Your Security Director works with you to implement specific security procedures.

SecurCHEM™: Unfamiliar with the new Department of Homeland Security chemical standards? Huffmaster can help you through the Top Screen process and ensure you comply with government regulations.

Don't settle for just another report from a consultant. Huffmaster goes beyond the paper as a full-service security provider to ensure you have a safe and secure environment for your employees. Contact one of our security experts to learn more about our full-service program today!
